KNOWLEDGE

Sue has over 20 years' experience in the areas of coaching, group and team facilitation, and leadership and management development.

She has worked in a wide variety of settings including the NHS, Local Authorities, third sector and many different private sector organisations.

Sue has a proven track-record in:

- + Bringing strong interpersonal skills to bear with a pragmatic and commercial approach.
- + One to one executive coaching, and team coaching facilitation.
- + Designing coaching-based interventions to improve collaboration and performance in a variety of organisations including public and private sectors, SMEs, the NHS, third sector and education.

EXPERIENCE

After completing a Physics degree, Sue pursued a career in both operations and HR, working her way up from graduate trainee and culminating in roles as HR Director and Learning and Development Director for a large FMCG organisation.

She has worked extensively in the field of organisational development and has been a managing Director of Developing Success since 2006.

For a number of years, Sue has lectured on the Post Graduate Certificate in Business and Executive Coaching at Leeds Beckett University and on the Post Graduate Diploma in Team Coaching at University College Dublin.

Sue was a lead facilitator for Bury and Tameside at Leaders in GM 2018, a place-based leadership development programme encouraging public sector cross-organisational collaboration in Greater Manchester.

Sue's time is now split between 1:1 executive and business coaching, coach training and team coaching & facilitation.

PASSION

Change for organisations and individuals can often be a challenging time, and Sue loves supporting individuals and teams to enable their organisations or localities to become more successful.

What excites Sue about the work she does is the opportunity for people to gain a greater understanding of themselves, other people and their context which enables them to grow and flourish.

Watching children and adults grow and flourish often requires provision of a safe space and someone to demonstrate real belief in those individuals. This is where Sue excels, enabling people to believe in themselves and helping them tap into their personal power.
